Concurrent majors within Asian Programs: Important Restrictions

Students pursuing a major in an Asian Language (CHNS, JAPNS) combined with a major in Asian studies should:

- Complete at least four courses toward the second major that do not overlap with the first major. This should include at least one 400 level course.
- Have a second area of geographic focus. Students should take at least 2 courses in another region (all courses cannot be in the area of the primary major or “general Asia” courses).
